Standard layout for IUCr WWW pages

IUCr WWW pages should conform to the same style. They comprise the following basic elements:

- Header: the <title> should be informative, and should always begin with (IUCr), since this is what is stored in browsers' history windows.

```
<!DOCTYPE HTML PUBLIC "-//IETF//DTD HTML//EN">
<html>

<head>
<title>
(IUCr) Standard layout for IUCr WWW pages
</title>
</head>
```

- The body of the document should start with a little logo referencing the IUCr home page, and a horizontal rule.

```
<body>

<img alt="[IUCr Home Page]" src="/iucr-top/logos/.littlelogo.gif">
<hr>
```

- The document should begin with a first–level header tag, <H1>. The title given here is often (but need not be) the same as that in the document header.

```
<h1>Standard layout for IUCr WWW pages</h1>
```

- The body of the document may then be filled in.
- The document concludes with a horizontal rule, date of update (if appropriate for pages that are liable to change), and an address link for the IUCr webmaster. And don't forget the closing </html> tag!
